

Leadership Intensive & Executive Coaching Certification

BERKELEY
EXECUTIVE
COACHING
INSTITUTE

“The content, the interventions by all faculty and guests, the exercises and the incredible deep humanity that everything was based on, have exceeded my expectations. Impressively well done on all levels: conceptual, organizational, technical and logistical.”

- Participant, online Coaching Institute 2020

The Executive Coaching Institute certification program is designed to provide the coaching skills that leaders need in challenging times, including unleashing individual potential, creating personal connections, and developing independent thinking in others. Participants explore three core dimensions during the program:

- WHO: Self-development to become an authentic leader and coach
- WHAT: Coaching skills, frameworks, modalities and techniques
- HOW: Presence and communication skills to effectively engage with others

Each day's activities are thoughtfully paced between short lectures, group discussions, experiential activities, breakout coaching sessions, faculty coaching and feedback, and more - all designed to build coaching skills, transform leadership, and develop a community of trust.

Candidates of the program include accomplished business leaders who wish to incorporate executive coaching into their management practice within an organization, as well as individuals who wish to begin or further develop a career as an independent executive coach.
